Please provide a brief summary of the club's goals, why you feel IGB recognition is important, and how students may benefit from your club.

The purpose of the United Nations Association of the United States of America Columbia University-wide Chapter (UNA-USA CUWC) is to strengthen the relationship between individual's within member states—including but not limited to students, and the United Nations (UN)—in an effort to raise public awareness about the work of the UN; as well as to assist in the university-wide promotion of the UN's goals. The UNA-USA CUWC seeks to educate members and students alike, about the vital work of the UN on matters pertaining to a) the implementation of the Sustainable Development Goals; b) environmental health and sustainability; c) economic and social welfare of the global civil society; d) human rights and humanitarian affairs; and e) peace, security, and disarmament. Accordingly, UNA-USA CUWC advocates for the importance of forging a strong relationship between the UN, its member states and the Columbia University-wide community; finally, UNA-USA CUWC establishes a network of student UN supporters with the objective of mobilizing them to collectively utilize this network as a path toward cultivating a generation of globalized leaders distinguished by their ethos, pragmatism, and commitment to building a sustainable future.

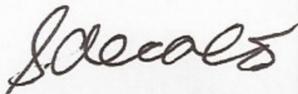

In addition to having obtained certification as an officially recognized campus chapter by the United Nations Foundation; we feel that IGB recognition is paramount to ensuring longevity, preservation of institutional memory and sustainability of our UNA!USA CUWC club's initiatives for years to come.
